Michaela Davis-Meehan

Michaela Davis-Meehan reached the pinnacle of elite big mountain riding as a Freeride World Tour (FWT) 2020 athlete. Michaela achieved this by winning the Freeride World Qualifier Tour (FWQ) in 2019 - the first Australian to do so in this European dominated competition.

Michaela started her Rookie year with a silver podium in Hakuba, Japan and again made history finishing on top of the podium in Andorra in March; the first Australian, male or female, skier or snowboarder, to take Gold in a FWT event. With the Verbier Xtreme Grand Finale cancelled due to COVID, Michaela finished the FWT in 2nd overall.

The FWT 2021 was tough for Michaela with COVID impacts and 2022 saw her competing in the USA and Canada with her best result being 1st Place at Kirkwood Mountain. In 2023 it was game on again with Michaela back on the FWT as a Wildcard - the first snowboarder from Australia to be given this honour.

Michaela won the FWT event in Kicking Horse, Canada with the highest score for a female snowboarder for the season. She finished the year in 4th place having shaken things up in Spain and Andorra. Michaela comes from a slopestyle background having represented Australia at World Cups and World Championships and having made the Shadow Olympic team in 2014.

Michaela is known for her resilience and big smile. She has overcome injury, and distance from big mountains, to continue to succeed at the highest level. Michaela's work ethic and cross training makes her one of the fittest women on the Tour. She can also produce surf and hiking content.

Michaela's skill and courage in attacking some of the world's wildest mountains is also evident in her foray into big mountain films. Persian Powder documents a snowboarding trip to Iran, with friends, which won the "best film" category at the women's Adventure Film Tour. Michaela is the embodiment of living your 'best life.'

She continuously inspires and encourages everyone she meets to explore more, follow their dreams and fill their life with adventure. Michaela has developed a motivational speaking package focusing on resilience (corporates), and inspiration for women and girls.

Location: Canberra, ACT and around the world
